

Orgasmic Energy

The basis of sexual desire and its fleeting fulfillment is the ecstasy of sexual orgasm, the most intense experience anyone can have. In that moment one experiences union with the beloved. There is no separation, no "I" as apart from "You." In that moment between the individual consciousness and the Cosmic, the anxious, striving, separated individual self becomes merged with the total flow of cosmic life energy, bathed in its' unchanging quality of intense joy.

The orgasmic experience is available to all, and for many it is the only mystical experience they will ever have. This momentary glimpse leaves us with a deep yearning to repeat it, not just for the sexual release, but for the truth reveals, because in that moment we remember who we really are.

In tantra, you can extend the climax to many minutes. Tantra provides a system of techniques for prolonging orgasm in order to experience Unity Consciousness. The state of enlightenment has been described as perpetual orgasm. Once you learn to attain this state is meditation, sex is no longer such a driving need. In orgasm you are at one with yourself, with your lover, with all creation, with God. There is no time, no past or future, only total presence in the eternal now. The breath stops and the mind is empty. And from this void come profound love, divine joy and illuminating bliss.
